

Giles Chichester MEP

UK Member of the Group of the European People's Party (Christian Democrats) and European Democrats (PPE).

Giles Chichester is MEP for Devon and the South West of England since 1994. He is currently Chairman Committee on Industry, Research and Energy at the European Parliament. He was educated at Westminster and Oxford and graduated from Oxford University 1965-68: MA (Hons) (Geography) (1972).

Previously a map publisher in a small business founded by father Francis Chichester, he is married to Virginia and has three children.

Since 2004, Giles Chichester is President of the European Energy Forum and has been European Parliament Rapporteur for Security of Supply of Energy. Policy interests include aerospace, forestry, complementary medicine and maritime safety. Other interests include rowing for England, sailing long-distance and vegetarian cooking. Publications include 'Living with nuclear energy,' 'YEO – Youth European Opportunities' and 'SESAME – Supporting Every Small and Medium-sized Enterprise' (or opening doors for small business). Born 1946, Giles Chichester has been a Member of the European Parliament since 1994.